

Dear Colorado Republicans,

With ballots arriving in your mailbox within the next week, feel free to pass this brief guide on to others. In fact, when you cast your own vote, text 10 friends and make sure they've voted, too!

AMENDMENT 78: Endorsed by the Colorado Republican Party -- VOTE YES!

SYNOPSIS: Amendment 78 is one of the best ballot initiatives to hit Colorado in years. Right now, Democrat Gov. Jared Polis and Democrat Attorney General Phil Weiser spend federal funds like slush money, without transparency and accountability. Amendment 78 would put their spending habits in the spotlight, insisting that these funds make their way through the legislature, allowing citizens to see what their government is doing and have the opportunity to testify for or against the spending. Whenever a ballot initiative proposes a higher level of transparency and accountability in government, it's a no-brainer for the Republican Party!

PROPOSITION 120: Endorsed by the Colorado Republican Party -- VOTE YES!

SYNOPSIS: As the Denver Gazette says, "Cut taxes -- defy politicians!" Prop 120 gives Coloradans the opportunity to pass -- as originally written -- the largest property tax cut in state history. At the end of the 2020 legislative session, the Democrats attempted to cheat and stop Prop 120 from giving voters this chance. However, despite their efforts, Prop 120 is on the ballot and voters can defy the party who always raises their taxes (the Dems) and vote for this cut.

Without a doubt, Prop 120 will cut property taxes on apartments and hotel rooms while also allowing counties to offset "homestead" property-tax exemptions that benefit seniors and veterans. If a constitutional challenge to the Democrats' attempt to circumvent Prop 120 wins in court, ALL residential homes will receive a property tax cut. Either way, at a time when housing in Colorado is becoming ever more unaffordable, this property tax cut is a welcome relief.

Thanks for casting your votes in favor of Prop 120 and Amendment 78 and for reminding your friends and family to do the same! Together, we'll work to advance a better future for the state we love.

Sincerely,

KBB
